Collection: PA Collection" aka "Historical Military Data of Louisiana Militia", 1718-1943

Location: Jackson Barracks Museum, New Orleans, LA

Extent: originally 352 volumes. currently (2021) 322 volumes.

Arranged and Described By: Beverly Boyko, Archives and Collections Manager and Ben Birdwhistell, Jackson Barracks Museum volunteer,

Access Restrictions: There are no known restrictions to this collection. Access is regulated by the policies of the current Louisiana National Guard Museums Collections Management Plan.

Acquisition: Created by historians employed in the Works Progress Administration Program sponsored by the Louisiana Adjutant General's Office (Fleming) at Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, LA between 1937 and 1943.

Copyright: Copyright is held by the Louisiana National Guard Museum. For permission to reproduce or publish please contact the archivist at the Louisiana National Guard Museum: Jackson Barracks.

Preferred Citations: [item], Volume #, Historical Military Data of Louisiana, Works Progress Administration 1938.001, Louisiana National Guard Archives, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Scope and Content Note: This collection includes 352 volumes (there are some duplicates and volumes #1-29 and 190-199 were probably never created) of transcribed material collected from newspaper and other published accounts concerning the Louisiana Militia and National Guard. An additional 25 unnumbered/unbound volumes have been identified as compiled by the WPA between 1941 and 1943 (with the exception of one unnumbered 1937 volume). These volumes were produced, along with a card catalog index (see library card files), by the Works Progress Administration between 1937 and 1943. There is also one small document box of related administrative records.

The WPA project's charter gave its supervisor, historian Paul L. Dupas, permission to send people out to collect from multiple locations such as the Governor's offices, university archives, the State Library Archives, New Orleans City Hall, the Times-Picayune's library, and Howard Memorial Library. Contents include newspaper articles, military orders and administrative minutes, recruitment advertisements, previous histories written about different aspects of Louisiana military history. Each volume contains a Tables of Contents and Index. The index card files (3 drawers, found in library card files) are arranged by individual or unit name and provide reference to a volume and page number.

In 1990 the majority of the volumes (n=293) were microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah. That film was in the Jackson Barracks library in 2002 but lost during Hurricane Katrina flooding. It was re-acquired in 2021 (see 2021.014 and \nglaa7-cbj8-fsg\Museum4\ARCHIVE\WPA\_HISTORIC\_MILITARY\_DATA) as 6.70GB/25folders/47,594 jpg files. Also probably lost in Katrina flooding were several of the volumes and many of the front/back pages of each. Louisiana Binding Service re-bound most of the surviving material into the existing 322 volumes, some of which are duplicates and others are divided into 2 (or more) volumes. LA Binding Service also produced high resolution tiff files stored on 34 DVDs of surviving pages (unusable do to massive file sizes). Due to the fragmentary nature of the surviving physical volumes, and the cumbersome file size of the tiff images, the jpg files are the most accessible format for research purposes.

Background Information (by volunteer Ben Birdwhistell, 2017):

Armed militias factor into Louisiana history dating back to its conception as a colony. The earliest evidence of armed militias in Louisiana dates back to 1698, 16 years after the colony was discovered by De La Salle and one year before Louisiana (New France) became a royal French colony. Militias persisted in Louisiana regardless of whether Louisiana was under the administration of the French, the Spanish, the United States, or the Confederate States of America. Militias in Louisiana often ended up serving different masters in Louisiana history. Militias served multiple roles in Louisiana. Aside from military drills and serving as additional manpower for law enforcement activities, members of various militias were held in high regard in Louisiana society and often held or attended balls and other social events to participate in the community.

The Works Progress Administration (later renamed the WPA) was created in 1935 by President Franklin Delanor Roosevelt. The purpose of the WPA was to decrease the reliance on charitable giving and emergency relief during the Depression by redirecting government funding into public works projects that would employ vast numbers of unemployed Americans. Working closely with the chief of the former Federal Emergency Relief Administration, Harry Hopkins, the Works Progress Administration created thousands of projects that employed people from almost any conceivable profession, including artists, musicians, historians, and writers. One of the major project goals the WPA worked towards was to collect the history of the United States and its people by sending out professional historians and writers to collect personal histories and to find and preserve documents considered to be important for the maintenance of US history for the future.

Once the historical records were collected, Paul Dupas and his team of historians compiled and sorted the collections. The sorting process involved two steps. First, the historians sorted out which materials should be added into the collection. Second, the materials were then sorted by military unit and chronological order. Records of the preserved materials were then typed up and proofread by editors. Once the records are typed up and proofread, multiple copies are made. The originals were typed on white bond paper and two copies are made on onion skin. The records are then compiled by creating index cards. The index cards are then compiled in two research indexes, one chronological and one by military unit for the sake of cross-referencing. After the index cards were created, the records were then compiled into larger collections and bound into larger volumes. See the administrative records for more detail.

Provenance and Acquisition:

The WPA Historical Military Data project was very likely conceived by Louisiana Adjutant General Brigadier General Raymond H. Fleming. The goal of this project was to conduct extensive research using published sources to compile a complete history of Louisiana military activity from the first European occupation to present (1937). The Deputy Adjutant General, Major W.D. Shaffer, worked as a liaison between the Adjutant General's office and Paul Dupas's WPA commission on the project.

The completed volumes were housed in the Adjutant General's library (probably today's "Fleming Hall"). The Collection remained there until around 1963 when the library activity was transferred to the "Library and Archives Building" aka old 108th Cavalry building ([Bldg#57 in 2005 per Amerski, LANG Museum Curator]; see records re LANG Museum history here: \\nglaa7-cbj8-fsg\Museum4\ARCHIVE\Museum-Library History). At the time Hurricane Katrina in 2005 the collection was located in the "Library" Jackson Barracks Building #53. At the time of this writing no records have been located to detail when the move from building #57 to #53 was made, nor are there any records of how much of the original collection was still intact. Flooding after Hurricane Katrina in 2005 damaged most of the library material. All rescued papers and books were stored in refrigerated trucks for months then cleaned and re-housed under FEMA contract with Louisiana Binding Service. Many of the recovered pages have been sealed in polyester sleeves and each volume re-bound with stitching and hard board covers. Some errors to volume titles have been noted and manually corrected between 2012 and 2021.

Processing:

Surviving physical copies were cross-checked by title and volume number with the 1990 microfilms to correct title/volume labeling mistakes made during the post 2005 re-binding. Also, several unbound volumes with WPA title pages or similar binding and page numbering were located in the library collection and are now collocated with this collection and listed below.
